

Contents

Word of the editor	3
Chapter 1. If it were not for the war	4
Things that are impossible to forget (Olha Kernosenko).....	5
How I became an adult (Valeriya Krotchenko).....	7
My teacher named War (Khrystyna Pikulytska)	10
How I came to light (Asia Rad'ko)	13
Chapter 2. Life starting from scratch: life of a forced resettler	17
Do not recall! (Oksana Komiakova)	18
Life “before” and “after” (Anastasiya Machus'ka)	20
Why is it important not to be a “burden”? (Olha Milishkevych)	23
I have home no more... (Danyil Nedostup)	25
Chapter 3. On another side of the frontline: my life (not) in Ukraine	28
We have learnt to appreciate the sun (Gunay Alekperova)	29
When there are traces of military vehicles’ tracks in one’s soul... (Yelizaveta Yefremova)	31
We want to live in Ukraine! (Mykhailo Skrypkin)	37
Chapter 4. My father (was) at the war.
History of the ATO soldiers’ children	42
Defender of the “furthest” check point (Roman Tybur)	43
Bloody “Crimean war” (Yana Driomina)	45
Forgive me, daddy... (Yuliya Konstantinova)	49
Chapter 5. On the verge of civilizations: life on the line of confrontation ...53
Childhood during the war (Mykyta Ferchuk)	54
The evening when I saw for the first time how “Grad” shoots... (Oleksandra Sevriukova)	56
My usual Happiness (Schastia) (Tetiana Kolesnikova)	60
I saw the face of war... (Inna Filipova).....	62
Chapter 6. When war is more than simply a word.
History of my volunteering	65
Volunteering as a style of life (Alina Kosovska)	66
I am only a piece on the firing line: history of a war psychologist (Karyna Saifudinova)	71
Chapter 7. Far from the frontline, but not from the war.
Experience of peaceful regions	74
Terrible word “war” (Mykyta Lukash)	75
Life (not) far from the front (Victoriya Hrabar)	77